01

Post a genuinely curious question — no product mention. Ask about the hardest part of running an independent clinic. High-signal, high-volume. Active practice owners self-identify in replies.

"I'm exploring what makes independent PT/chiro ownership hard — happy to share findings. What's your biggest operational headache?"

02

Send personalized connection requests to the 35 PT pipeline + 40 chiro/derm prospects. Reference a specific detail from their profile. Ask one question — no pitch, no product.

"Building for independent PT owners — saw your post on billing headaches. Could I ask 2 questions about your experience? 20 min max."

03

Attend Washington State APTA chapter meetings and WA chiropractic association events. In-person credibility is highest — warm intros from peers convert at 3–4× vs. cold outreach.

Attend next APTA-WA or ChiroWA chapter event. Introduce as "building tools for independent practices — trying to learn what actually hurts."

04

Physical Therapy Owners Club is the most active private community for independent PT practice owners. Members openly discuss billing, compliance, and admin pain — the exact problems we solve.

Join PTOC. Contribute value for 2 weeks. Then post a single discovery question — no link, no pitch. DM the most engaged responders.

Rule: Every outreach is a learning conversation, not a sales conversation. Ask about the past. Never pitch the future.
